SOLDIERS LOOK FOR CITIZENS' BACKING

Soldiers Who Are Doing Their Duty In Army Service Express Hope That Citizens Will Stand By Liberty Loan.

The men of Ulster county who are in active service for their country in the war realize probably far better than anyone who is at home the necessity for making the Second Liberty Loan a success, and to such men whose duty has called them to military service the news that the folks back home are helping to do their bit by making the Liberty Loan a success will be about the most cheerful news that could be furnished to them, for without the money with which to carry on the war any personal sacrifice is useless.

For the reason stated, it is particularly appropriate that Mayor Canfield this morning should have received from Lieutenant Dittus, of Company M, at Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, South Carolina, the following letter of hope:

Hon. Palmer Canfield, Jr.,
Mayor of the City of Kingston.
My Dear Sir:

Having been advised of the Liberty Loan Rally which will assemble the citizens of Kingston, through your proclamation, at the high school on the evening of October 24th, I take this opportunity of expressing to you on behalf of the Ulster county boys stationed here, the hope that your effort will not be in vain and that the citizens of Kingston will respond to this call of their country as speedily and as wholeheartedly as have the many sons of Kingston responded to the call for active service that the country has made upon them.

We sincerely hope that the traditions of the Old Colonial City for patriotism and devotion to country will be upheld and the response made in this instance by her citizens will result in putting her first among the cities of the Hudson Valley in the amount subscribed for the Liberty Loan.

Sincerely yours,
LIEUT. R. C. DITTUS,
Co. M, 10th N. Y. Infantry.

CAMP DIX IS "BOMBARDED"

Aeroplane Drops Iron Crosses to Advertise the Liberty Loan—Guard Duty and Kitchen Police Not Disturbed.

Co. F, 303rd Engrs., Camp Dix, Sunday, Oct. 21.—Well, I survived my first day as K. P. and believe me it is some job to cook for 160 men and 28 boarders. We peeled potatoes in the morning and then again in the afternoon, four washboilers full, and then a few more for breakfast today. It seems to me it was either wash dishes or peel potatoes. I was outside the kitchen about 15 minutes all day, from 6 o'clock a. m. until 7:25 p. m.

The boys are all feeling fine and since we got our stove up it is not so cold getting up in the morning. The guard at night keeps the fire running and the stove keeps our room pretty comfortable now, but if we are here this winter it will be pretty hard to keep the big rooms warm.

Kingsburgh, who came down to the 303rd Engineers, has been put to work already painting signs for the regiment. He also made small signs for Butler and I with our names on them to hang on our cot so the guard will be able to find us and wake us up at 2 a. m. some cold day and tell us to get out on guard.

This is some job. The company must furnish a detail of 18 privates and 3 corporals for guard tomorrow, but I am not on the list yet. I will probably be on about the next call or perhaps not until the second. The men are taken according to name and there are quite a number before you come to "H."

The best part of guard duty is the trick from 12 until 3 and from 3 until 6 o'clock. I am speaking of the fire guard in barracks. These men are on three hours and the man who gets up at 12 has his entire night's sleep shot. This trick from 12 until 3 is considered worse than the trick from 3 until 6 for the latter gets a good sleep before he is called, while a man routed out at 12 after two hours sleep feels pretty bum and he only gets 2 1/2 hours more after he is relieved. You have to get up and drill next day just the same. Regular guard mount, that is the regimental guard, which we furnish Monday, is on for 24 hours, 2 hours active and 4 hours reserve. That is a man gets 2 hours pacing his post and then goes to the guard house and sleeps for 4 hours unless called out for relief. This is repeated so each man gets 8 hours active and 16 hours reserve duty in 24 hours.

Yesterday an aeroplane, biplane, flew over camp advertising "Liberty Bonds." He, I do not know who it was and it may have been a she, flew right over our barracks at perhaps 2,000 feet and "bombed" us with iron crosses. As they drifted half a mile before coming to earth I did not get one, but some of the boys showed them to me. They were black pasteboards shaped like an iron cross and printed on them was something about being "faithful to the Kaiser and not buy a Liberty Bond." A sort of sarcastic knock for the boys who had not bought a bond. The "bombardeering" was preceded by another, but this had gone before I knew it. It must have been flying high for I did not hear the roar of the engine as I did the second. Both machines kept on north. You will probably read in the papers who the "invaders" were. You know we see things here and it is not known what or who they are until we read about it in the papers.

The camp is so big we don't know what is going on. You people know from the papers more about what is going on here, generally, than we who are right on the spot.

There are a few thousand of the boys leaving camp for the south, I suppose to fill up the shortages there.

We are soon to learn bombing and trench tricks from a French captain, whose name sounds like most French names, but is spelled nothing like it is pronounced, so I won't attempt to spell it.

There are rumors that we will pack our grip about November 15 and, they say, go on a practice hike for a few days. What this means and whether it is true I know not. There are so many camp rumors. The B. C. L. is sure busy and I think he has taken all honors from our Kingston B. S. L.

Don't be surprised if you see me coming home soon for a couple of days. I may go over to New York next Sunday unless I am on guard.

Within a very short time we are to begin work on our specialties, each man learning to do everything but to lay special stress on his particular trade. We must all learn the general principals of trench building, bridge and road building. I believe a detail will specialize on pontoon bridges, another on trench building, etc., while the bridgers will be taught enough to build trenches in an emergency, etc. The engineers do not actually dig the trenches. There are not enough of them, but must supervise the infantry, which does the actual work. However, there is little doubt but the engineers will nurse more than one blister from handling a shovel.

They are having some good talent down here at the Y. M. C. A. tent. Such people as Harry Lauder and big New York stars, all for a time. I have been unable to get up to the big tent yet for it is a couple of miles from us, up near division headquarters, and I have been on detail several times and it would be late when I was through and I felt like sleeping.

The weather was cold down here this morning. There was a heavy frost and a fire felt good. It is a grand day though.

When you come down again, come in about meal time, and I will give you a treat. I'll arrange so you can eat an army meal out of a real army mess kit and see how you like it.

The boys of Company L are all shot to pieces. I was up there on Wednesday and the place looked deserted. There are about half of them gone to other branches of the service, machine gun companies, depot brigade, headquarters train or somewhere. It looks as if there would be plenty of room for the next contingent.

Lieut. William Kraft is down here. He is with the 303th. I have not seen him but several of the other boys have. It is cold here in the Y. M. C. A. and I think I will go back to barracks and get warm.

FRED.

Lieut. Dittling Recovering.

Word received in Sageries is to the effect that Lieutenant Rudolph F. Dittling of the Medical Corps of the army has been ill in the army hospital for the last ten days at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he has been stationed for some weeks. Dr. Dittling suffered from high blood pressure and strained the muscles of his heart, but his condition now is much better. After receiving a regular assignment for duty he will spend a few days' leave in Sageries before taking up his work.

LIBERTY RALLY IN HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM THIS EVENING

This is Liberty Day and this evening it will be properly observed by the holding of a Liberty Rally in the auditorium of the Kingston High School. Members of the Liberty Loan Committee have been observing the day working for the success of the Liberty Loan. The rest of us can turn out at the rally this evening. The more severe the storm the greater will be the credit to the city if the auditorium is crowded.

FIRE INSURANCE ACTION CONTINUED

In Supreme Court This Morning—Mrs. Williams Sues Pioneer Co-operative Fire Insurance Company—Many Witnesses Are Called.

Case No. 76 was resumed this morning in the supreme court here.

This is an action brought by Mrs. Hattie S. Williams, of Newark, N. J., against the Pioneer Co-operative Fire Insurance Company.

Mrs. Williams' property near Summitville, including a dwelling, barn, and cook house were destroyed by fire in December, 1916, and plaintiff alleges that the defendant company has refused to pay the plaintiff the fire insurance due.

The total amount of fire insurance covering the three buildings mentioned, was $1,175.

The defendant claims that the plaintiff misrepresented the value of the property.

Mr. Boyce Called.

Benjamin A. Boyce was the first witness called this morning by the defendant's attorneys. Boyce resumed his testimony along the lines of the testimony that he gave relative to the size of the buildings burned.

Boyce still retained his perpetual smile that he wore Tuesday afternoon while on the witness stand. He had a very good memory relative to some things, and seemed to suffer from a sudden lapse of memory when he was cross-examined.

Size of the Buildings.

Boyce stated that he had visited on Tuesday evening the scene of the burned buildings in question, and, in measuring the foundations, Boyce stated the dimensions of the buildings to be as follows:

The dwelling, 24 by 36 feet, cellar 7 feet deep, walls 24 inches thick, side walls 26 inches thick. Barn 61 1/2 feet long, 26 feet wide. Cook house 18 by 25 feet.

Motion is Denied.

Attorney for defense asked the court to have the testimony of Boyce relative to the proof of fire loss be stricken out. The court denied this request.

Mr. Yeager's Testimony.

John M. Yeager, insurance agent, was the next witness called, and he identified some specifications and notes of the values of the buildings in question.

Mr. Boyce applied to Yeager for fire insurance, according to Yeager's testimony, and was representing Mrs. Williams in the matter.

Many objections were made to parts of Boyce's testimony, by attorneys of both sides.

Mrs. Williams Called.

Mrs. Williams stated upon cross-examination that in April, 1916, the property in question was rented out. For some time previous to that Mrs. Williams' mother, sister and her family occupied the property.

Mrs. Williams also visited the property at various times during the year.

Attorney for defendant questioned Mrs. Williams closely as to the occupancy of the property in question.

The Company's Defense.

The insurance company claims the property was not occupied ten days prior to the date of the fire, and for this reason the policy was not valid, according to one of the provisions contained in the policy.

The insurance company also claims that the plaintiff misrepresented the value of the property.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets Tomorrow.

The autumn meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the board of missions of the District of Orange, will be held Thursday at the Church of the Holy Spirit. There will be communion service at 11 a. m. Luncheon will be served to the visiting delegates and clergymen at 1 o'clock. The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock. All auxiliary members in Kingston are requested to be on hand to help welcome the out of town delegates.

Contractor Next Witness.

Fred Roosa of this city, a builder and contractor, was the next witness called and described the specifications of the building burned.

Mr. Roosa, with Mr. Boyce, went Tuesday evening to the scene of the burned property and measured the dimensions of the foundations of the buildings destroyed by fire.

It was brought out, incidentally by Roosa's testimony, that Boyce is also a butcher by occupation.

Call Myron H. Budd.

Mr. Budd, the next witness, lives on the property located about 500 yards from the property of Mrs. Wil-

GERMANS ACTIVE ON THE BALTIC

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Copenhagen, Oct. 24.—Germany's sea forces in the Baltic have been split up into several squadrons and further operations upon a grand scale seem imminent today.

Part of the German men-of-war are cruising in the Gulf of Bothnia and off the mainland, a second squadron is pushing northwards toward the Gulf of Finland, while another powerful force is lying off the Sound, the narrow strip of water lying between Sweden and Denmark.

Additional reinforcements are being received by the German Baltic fleet which indicates that the German admiralty fears that England will attempt to send a big fleet into the Baltic to add the Russians.

The heavy naval losses sustained by the Germans evidently staggered them, as they had palpably underestimated the morale of the Russian sailors.

For Dry Town and County.

A mass meeting under the auspices of the Federated Commission for a Dry Town and County will be held at the East Kingston M. E. Church on Friday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock. Prominent speakers will be present and there will be an interesting program.

Teachers Win Increase.

The teachers of the grades in the roughneck schools have been given an increase of $100 a year. They start with $350 and receive an automatic increase of $25 a year until they reach $725, when the increase stops.

Buildings that were destroyed by fire.

Mr. Budd stated that there were eleven rooms in the dwelling house that was burned down.

Details of the construction of the three buildings burned down, were then given by Mr. Budd.

Cross-examines Mr. Budd.

Upon cross-examination Mr. Budd, the attorney for defendant brought out the following facts, as alleged by Budd.

The property in question contained 100 acres, about 50 acres of this being woodland.

No new buildings have been erected on the property since 1910.

Buildings that were burned down, on the property, were never painted or shingled, during the time that Mrs. Williams owned the property.

Mr. Roosa Called Again.

Mr. Roosa was called again and testified to the following values of the buildings destroyed by fire:

House $1,875, barn $1,520, cook-house $495.

Mr. Roosa was the last witness called by the plaintiff.

The Defendant's Case.

Lamont De Ved was the first witness called and stated that he lived about a mile from the property of Mrs. Williams that was burned down.

Mr. De Ved stated that he had moved two loads of furniture from the Williams dwelling that Mrs. Williams occupied as tenant, to a house in Montgomery.

According to De Ved, he had been on the Williams property a day or so before the fire, and there were no foot prints in the snow, leading to or from the Williams property.

There had been a heavy snow storm two or three days before the fire.

De Ved is Cross-examined.

Upon cross-examination De Ved stated that he did not know whether or not any article was left by Mrs. Williams in the Williams dwelling house. De Ved also stated that he did not know whether any articles of furniture were left on the second floor.

Attorney for plaintiff claimed that Mrs. Williams' son George, was moving at the time mentioned, and that it was the son's furniture that was moved to Montgomery.

De Ved said that he was not sure who the furniture belonged to.

Mr. Budd is Called.

Le Grand Budd of Phillipsport, the next witness, said that his property was about a mile from the Williams property.

Budd stated that he was at the Williams property at the time Mrs. Williams had her furniture moved. Budd stated that this took place about the middle of November, 1915.

Budd said that he helped De Ved to load the furniture on the wagon.

Call Myron H. Budd.

Myron H. Budd was then called and gave testimony relative to the furniture removed.

At 1 o'clock court was adjourned until 2 o'clock.

KINGSTON BUYS OVER $900,000 LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

With hard work and everybody doing his bit, Kingston will subscribe for its apportionment of Liberty Loan bonds.

But everybody will have to do his utmost, there must be no slackers.

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon the best estimate obtainable was that Kingston had subscribed to more than $900,000.

Kingston's apportionment is $1,189,500.

So there is over $200,000 yet to be subscribed to save Kingston from the disgrace of falling short of its share in upholding the nation.

"BOMBARDMENT" FRIDAY MORNING

A telegram received this afternoon by E. Coykendall states that the aeroplane which was to bombard Kingston this morning with Liberty Loan appeals will leave Friday morning at 10 o'clock, arriving here about 11:30, weather permitting.

BIBLE SOCIETY AND LIBERTY LOAN

The people of Ellenville and the Ulster County Bible Society will hold a joint meeting at the Dutch Reformed Church in Ellenville Thursday evening, the Bible Society holding its one hundred and first anniversary meeting, and Ellenville a Liberty Loan one.

The occasion of the joint meeting is that the citizens of Ellenville have been trying to get Judge Clearwater to address them upon the Liberty Loan, but his engagements prevented. They found out that he was to address the Bible Society on Thursday evening and they suggested a fifty-fifty affair, one-half to be devoted to the anniversary of the Bible Society, and the other half to the Liberty Loan.

The judge fell in with this suggestion, and the meeting promises to be one of the largest and most unique held in that progressive village in many a day.

NORTHEAST GALE TIES UP SHIPPING

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Boston, Oct. 24.—A northeasterly gale which at an early hour today had attained a velocity of fifty miles an hour, effectively tied up shipping along the coast of New England.

Incoming vessels reported extraordinary high seas and all manner of craft scuttling for shelter.

Coastwise craft entering the harbor experienced considerable difficulty in docking.

A large fleet of coastwise vessels was reported as having taken shelter from the violence of the storm in Vineyard Haven.

Miss Rieley Appointed Director.

Miss H. Marietta Rieley, who was one of the assistants in the playground work at Forsyth Park during the past summer, has been appointed physical director of the schools at Remus Point, Chautauque county, and vicinity, and will have charge of physical work in twenty grade schools and a high school.

Miss Rieley is a daughter of Joseph H. Rieley of Cook's Falls and is a graduate of Kingston Academy. During her work in Kingston last summer she made many friends.

Corn Meal at Stone Ridge.

A demonstration of uses of corn meal will be given in Grange Hall, Stone Ridge, on Thursday at 2 p. m., October 25.

Night School in Poughkeepsie.

With 252 scholars registered, the public evening school opened in Poughkeepsie Monday evening.

FRENCH DRIVE TOWARD LAON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Oct. 24.—France's new offensive against Laon, the chief bastion defending the southern end of the famous Hindenburg line, has driven a salient more than two miles deep into the German front and has put the French in possession of 8,000 German prisoners.

A series of fortified villages and strategic heights were taken by General Petain's troops in storm attacks and much booty, including nearly thirty big German guns, was captured.

The French drive, launched in a downpour of rain, took the Germans by surprise and before reserves could be gotten into action the first, second and third lines of German field works were being overrun by French troops.

There was bitter hand-to-hand fighting around Chavignon, on the northern slope of the Aisne Heights, but it was finally taken and all counter efforts of the Germans to recapture it broke down.

The high ground commanding the village of Pargny-Blain, although swept by barrage fire from German artillery, was seized by the French.

The first German defensive work to fall into French hands was Malmaison Fort, a strong position which had been heavily bombarded before the French infantry was sent against it.

All of the captured positions were quickly consolidated and the work of strengthening them went on throughout the night.

The fighting zone, nearly twelve square miles in extent, was covered with German corpses, showing the enormous casualties suffered by the crown prince's vaunted army.

The German losses were particularly severe around Allemant, which stands at the apex of the new salient that now thrusts its nose deep into the German front.

Although the Germans had moved some of their guns from the Aisne front to West Flanders, they still had plenty of heavy artillery supporting their infantry between Laon and Berry-au-Bac, and it kept up an incessant fire against the advancing French troops, but to no avail.

Following so closely upon the Anglo-French victory in Belgium and the great French success north of the Aisne moved the French people to the highest rejoicing today. It was a terrific blow to the military prestige of the German crown prince, and the material results are of the utmost strategic importance.

Reports from the Philippines, Hawaii, Panama, Alaska and Porto Rico today indicate that all are "doing their bit" for the loan. Banks are offering the bonds on terms of ten per cent down and the remainder within one year.

It was reported today that the final count would show subscriptions of more than $800,000,000 to the loan by foreign races in the United States. The last complete returns from New York city, which were compiled October 20, showed subscriptions there of $23,210,000 by twenty-four foreign races.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM FRANCE

The Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross is in receipt of another communication thanking the chapter for supplies sent overseas. The letter was written in French, and the translation is as follows:—

To the Director of The Ulster County Chapter of The American Red Cross, Kingston, N. Y.

My dear Sir: I have the honor to inform you, that the American Relief Clearing House at Paris has delivered to me today one case, No. 3026, that you have sent to me through their agency, for our relief work.

I thank you for this gift, and pray that you will convey our deepest gratitude and good wishes to the donors who have participated with you in this.

Kindly accept, dear sir, the expression of my sincere appreciation. VARVALENE, Secretary General.

Assisting Serbian.

It is said that Serbia has been ravaged by the war even worse than Belgium and Roumania, if that be possible. In order to afford relief in this stricken country, the American Red Cross now has a special commission in Serbia, and in addition to having sent there a shipment of flour it is preparing to send additional consignments of foodstuffs and clothing for Serbian prisoners. The Red Cross is cooperating with the Serbian government in this movement.

The Serbian Minister having deposited $300,000 to the credit of the Red Cross for the purchase of foodstuffs inasmuch as all of the Allies must provide necessities for their soldiers who are captured. The Central Powers are not giving prisoners of war sufficient food to keep them in good health. By arrangement with Germany and Austria, prisoners are permitted to receive extra rations and clothing from their governments. Lack of supplies in Europe has forced Serbia to buy in the United States.

Red Cross Theatrical Day.

Having made all arrangements for what will be known as Red Cross theatrical day throughout the county, some time ago, the date was at that time set for October 26. Now in order not to interfere with the Liberty Bond sale this date has been forwarded to December 7. The entire receipts of many theaters throughout the county, as well as salaries of many patriotic actors for that day, will be contributed to the Red Cross war relief fund.

Under Mr. Erlanger's direction, over 250 of the more prominent theatrical managers throughout the country will cooperate in this movement, which will later be announced in detail.

BOND SALES OVER $3,000,000,000

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Liberty Day will see the $3,000,000,000 second Liberty loan over-subscribed by nearly half a billion.

This was the confident prediction of treasury department officials at noon today when reports began to come in from all quarters telling of a general loosening of purse strings all over the nation at the behest of Liberty loan workers. And the hoped for two billion over-subscription raising the total to five billion is expected by Saturday night.

At the opening of business today treasury department figures showed $2,465,000,000 worth of bonds had been subscribed. At least one billion dollars will be the total of today's bond sales, treasury officials believe. That will mean the over-subscription of the minimum figure set for the loan by half a billion dollars.

With the minimum of $3,000,000,000 passed, Liberty Loan workers will renew their efforts during the last three days of the campaign for an over-subscription to the maximum figure of $5,000,000,000.

Totals for the twelve federal reserve districts announced here when the Liberty Day drive got under way were:

New York, $825,000,000.
Boston, $225,000,000.
Cleveland, $215,000,000.
Philadelphia, $235,000,000.
Minneapolis, $85,000,000.
Atlanta, $300,000,000.
Dallas, $25,000,000.
San Francisco, $110,000,000.
St. Louis, $100,000,000.
Kansas City, $90,000,000.
Chicago, $375,000,000.
Richmond, $110,000,000.

Federal reserve officials of the Atlanta, Dallas and Kansas City districts reported that they had a total of at least $90,000,000 more than had been reported.

It was reported today that the final count would show subscriptions of more than $800,000,000 to the loan by foreign races in the United States. The last complete returns from New York city, which were compiled October 20, showed subscriptions there of $23,210,000 by twenty-four foreign races.

RUSH FOR LOAN KEEPS GROWING

Tremendous Efforts in the Liberty Bond Campaign Expected to Make

New York, Oct. 23.—With the ap-the building up of subscriptions to the Liberty loan the campaign here is marked by redoubled efforts and a feverish strain on the part of the multitudes of salesmen and selling agencies to increase the daily totals. Operating on the basis of trying to double the results of the banner day of last week, when a total of $80,000, was subscribed during business hours, the various committees expect to amaze the world by the results of the final few days' work.

Although at the close of the week it was evident that an amount somewhat in excess of $100,000,000 a day would be needed to satisfy the quota expected in the Second Federal Reserve district, confidence was expressed by the heads of many committees, both general and local, that there would be a surprising oversubscrip-tion to the loan. As the final date approaches it is evident the returns from the outlying districts will come pouring in, representing the patriotism and the sacrifice of the men in the great farming and factory sections of New York state.

A response no less vociferous is equally sure from the great industrial and agricultural centers of New Jersey, which are included in the Second Federal Reserve district. Fairfield county, Conn., another part of this district, is already beginning to show increased returns, and the committees working there say the allotments for that district will be very easily exceeded.

Throughout the nation, in fact, the final week of the campaign is expected in all official quarters to show results that would have been considered most surprising two weeks ago. As yet there is only one class of Americans that is considered remiss in its subscriptions, and the recent warnings given to these people have already begun to produce results.
This class comprises the moderately wealthy, those who can take from $5,000 to $200,000 of bonds. An energetic appeal to these was issued by the New York committee last week emphasizing the fact that there had already been a most cordial response from the extremely wealthy and from the ordinary wage earner and salary worker.

It is probably that this warning will not have to be repeated this week. The cumulative effect of a wide distribution of posters, thorough canvassing by dozens of committees and active work by hundreds of volunteer organizations will bring into line all those people who heretofore have appeared cool toward the great work.

But when seven years old removed with his parents to Montandale, where he has since resided. After attending the district school he studied at Oakwood Seminary, a noted educational institution located in Cayuga county, from which he was graduated. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1889 and since that time has actively practiced in all the courts of this state.

Probably no other man in the town of Plattekill has so extensive a knowledge of the town and county affairs as Mr. Ostrander. It is natural that he should have been consulted constantly on business matters relating to Plattekill and the rest of Southern Ulster, and that in thirty-seven years' experience as a lawyer he should have taken an active interest in all matters pertaining to his town and the county. A lawyer who did not do so would be a strange kind of lawyer. Experience and knowledge gained in this way have a great value and Mr. Ostrander as a member of the board of supervisors would prove an able, efficient, conscientious public servant to whom a public office would in every sense be

Ancient Marine Homes.

The most interesting of the earlier habitations of man are the curious lake dwellings of the age of bronze.
These were usually built on piles sunk into the bottom of lakes, some distance from the shore. Large trees were felled, the trunks of which were sharpened on one end and driven into the mud by mallets used in the hands of the builders, who worked from a raft.

EMPTY THE ATTIC AND AID THE POOR

In Spite of High Wages There is Actual and Unavoidable Suffering That Should be Alleviated at Once.

An empty attic is the only excuse for not helping some unfortunate fellow-man to fight the high cost of living this winter. Outgrown clothing out of style coats and half worn shoes stored away in the top of the house are in these days of want a manifest of indifference to suffering.

Somebody, and it was a kind-hearted somebody, too, said to Mrs. Mac Millan, of the Social Service Bureau, the other day:

"There can't be any actual want in Kingston now, because wages are so high and jobs so plentiful. A laboring man gets three dollars a day and a mechanic more than that."

"That is true," said Mrs. Mac Millan. "I have never known a winter where the problem of unemployment was so completely cancelled and yet I have never known a time when the want of clothing was greater. Let me tell you why."

"When there are several wage earners in a family there is no want this year because wages are good, as you say; but when there is only one earning money and the family is large, the advantage of the good pay is more than offset by the fearfully high cost of coal, food and clothing. "For instance, I know of one family where the father, a steady, industrious man, with a good position, makes four dollars a day when the weather permits. He has nine children, all too young to work although the oldest boy has a paper route. This man can feed his family and keep them warm but will you consider the item of keeping eleven people in shoes at the present cost of leather, and in underwear at the present price of clothing? The purchase of an overcoat for himself is absolutely out of the question for this man."

"I hadn't thought of that," said the questioner.

"And have you thought of the families where the wage earner is sick and the income is cut off entirely?"

"Well, no—I haven't."

"Have you thought of the widows with little children who are too young to leave at home while the mother goes out to work? And the deserted wives; have you thought of them?"

"No, I haven't thought of any of those things," said the first speaker, and I am ashamed to think I formed an opinion on a subject of which I knew so little. I'll send you something. What do you need most?"

"Underwear and shoes," said Mrs. Mac Millan. "I need all sorts of underwear, women's and men's, and children's, and especially babies'—there are always so many little babies who must be kept warm."

"Well, I don't know," said the willing giver doubtfully. "I haven't much on hand now except really worn-out stuff."

"Nothing is worn out while there is even a portion of good material left in it," returned the social service expert. "Many of these mothers will cut from the best parts of men's underwear a good garment for a little child."

"Could you use a man's suit with holes in it?"

"You will be surprised to know that pieces of worn-out suits and overcoats can be sewed together in squares to make bed quilts which keep children warm."

"And shoes with holes in them—can you use those?"

"Shoes can be resoled for a dollar," was the answer, "and suits that some little boy has outgrown can be patched and mended to enable some other little boy to go to school. Please tell all your friends that I want everything in their attic. Tell them to send me any garment they can't use themselves, and I will give it to someone who can not only use it but will be glad and grateful to get it."

The above conversation was held in the presence of a Freeman reporter whose note book took down enough of it to make public, that others may know the answers to such questions as this average Kingston woman asked.

Many kind and thoughtful people have already sent to the Bureau of Social Service quantities of warm clothing. Every garment given has been passed on, and Mrs. MacMillan's storeroom is eager for more.

One wants more things of every description. Old quilts and blankets are particularly welcome. Woolen pieces of any size or shape, mittens, stockings and hats.

Empty your attic, good women of Kingston. Let no old garment hang unused while your neighbor is cold. Pass on what you don't need yourself.

In giving clothing you are giving doubly, for not only do the garments keep somebody warm but there is more money left in that same somebody's pocket to buy food.

Everybody Doing It.

"Over There" was being whistled Tuesday evening with such enthusiasm by a number of Boy Scouts who were walking down Broadway, that practically every pedestrian who happened to be in that neighborhood started to whistle this catchy tune and soon Broadway was whistling mad. Even two or three young ladies who are not experts in the whistling line, "puckered" their lips and made a faint noise like a whistle.

Halloween and Spiderweb Social will be held Tuesday evening in the Ponchockle Church on Auburn street. Admission will be free and ice cream and cake will be offered for sale. The public is invited to attend.

Port Ewen, Oct. 24.—Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their rooms in Hut-ton's Hall.

Miss Mary F. Bishop, who has been the guest of relatives in Poughkeepsie, has returned to her home on Broadway.

The harvest supper under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday school was a complete success. The menu, which was faultlessly served by the efficient waitresses, was thoroughly enjoyed by the many patrons. Out of town people were present from Kingston, New Saem, Albany and Newburgh. Those who did not attend the supper missed a rare treat.

EQUIPMENT FOR NEW YORK GUARD

The status of the New York Guard, the successor of the National Guard which is now in the federal service was made plain today by Adjutant General Charles H. Sherill in the following orders issued from his office:

"The New York Guard is being organized as set forth in General Order No. 47 this office October 9, 1917, will constitute a purely state force under the control of the governor, as commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state and will not be under the control of or subject to call or draft by the federal government. It will not constitute a reserve or depot battalion of the former organizations of the National Guard and its members will not be subject to transfer to such former organizations which have in effect been disbanded by draft into the service of the United States. Its relation to the state will be similar to that of the former National Guard and the organizations thereof, when organized, will occupy the various armories within the state under the same conditions as did the former organizations of the National Guard.

"It is not the intention to call upon organizations of the New York Guard to perform continuous active service except in case of imminent peril to the state or some political subdivision thereof. The matter of guarding public property will be taken care of, as far as possible, by provisional organizations consisting of members of the New York Guard who signify their willingness and desire for such duty. There has been no difficulty in obtaining a sufficient number of volunteers for this duty, but it occasionally should demand the calling out of one or more organizations of the New York Guard for such duty that action will be taken.

"When forty (40) applicants for enlistment shall have been enrolled, the officer in charge and control of each armory where companies have not been heretofore mustered into the New York Guard, will make out an application for muster on Form 104 and will comply with the provisions of section 960 R, advising The Adjutant General of the State and the Commanding General of the brigade in whose territory the organization is situated when the organization is ready for muster.

An officer will thereupon be detailed to make such muster. At the same time requisitions will be prepared and forwarded through the channel, for the following property which will be issued as soon as available:

"For each man. Quartermaster Property: 1 hat, service; 1 hat cord; 1 coat, o. d. wool; 1 coat, o. d. cotton; 2 shirts, o. d. flannel; 1 breeches, o. d. wool, pair; 1 breeches, o. d. cotton, pair; 1 leggings, canvas, pair waist belt; 1 shoes, russet pair; 1 overcoat, o. d. wool; 1 blanket; 1 poncho; 1 shelter tent, half, complete. Ordnance Property: 1 cartridge belt suspenders, pr.; 1 haversack; 1 canteen; strap; 1 knife; 1 fork; 1 spoon; 1 meat can; 1 cup; 1 pouch for 1st aid packet; 1 rifle; 1 gun sling; 1 bayonet and scabbard; 1 cartridge belt, medical property—1 first aid packet.

Richard was playing with a toy machine. His mother heard an unusual commotion and hurried to the room. On entering she found poor Pete, his doll, with a broken head. In reply to her questions as to what had happened to Pete, Richard only shook his head and mumbled each time: "Richie, ruff-neck."

HOW UNCLE SAM IS MAKING GOOD COOKS

Members of National Army at Camp Dix Are Being Taught How to Feed Soldiers Properly and Economically—Daily Camp Menus.

The School of Cooking and Baking of the Seventy-eighth Division of the National Army at Camp Dix, near Wrightstown, N. J., several days ago cooked and served three substantial meals to 212 soldiers at a cost per meal of less than 8 cents a soldier, or about 23 cents for the three meals, says the New York Times of Sunday.

Had an ordinary civilian gone into any hotel in New York city and purchased the same food it would have cost him anywhere from $3 to $7, the price depending on whether or not he went to a moderate priced popular restaurant or a Fifth Avenue Hotel.

While the government allows between 35 and 40 cents a day for the subsistence of a soldier, the army cooks and bakers at Camp Dix were able to prove that they could solve the problem at a price almost 50 per cent below the allowed cost.

The following is the menu provided for the 212 men who were selected for the Camp Dix test:

Breakfast.

Boiled rice and milk, hot muffins, fried breakfast bacon, fried Irish potatoes, bread and butter, coffee or milk.

Dinner.

Purée of bean soup, roast beef, stewed kidney beans, sweet potatoes, tapioca pudding, bread and butter, coffee or milk.

Supper.

Meat and potato pie, hot biscuits, fresh apple sauce, bread and butter, coffee or milk.

On Sundays the menus are somewhat more elaborate, but the cost is within the government allowance. How the cost is kept within the limit is another question. Here is a sample Sunday menu for the three meals at Camp Dix:

Breakfast.

Scrambled eggs, French toast, bacon, cottage fried potatoes, bread and butter, milk or coffee.

Dinner.

Vegetable soup, soft roast of beef, mashed potatoes, bread and butter, creamed peas, stewed peaches, chocolate cake, coffee or milk.

Supper.

Beefsteak pot pie, sliced tomatoes, browned potatoes, rice pudding, bread and butter, coffee or milk.

To understand what all this means in this day of high prices all that is necessary is to take the army menus into a first class hotel and compare prices with those on the hotel menus.

There is hardly a first class hotel in New York, for instance, where purée of bean soup can be had for less than 25 cents a portion, or 30 cents more than all three meals served at Camp Dix a few days ago.

The average price of roast beef at a hotel is now about 65 cents a cut, or nearly three times the cost of the three meals served the 212 Camp Dix soldiers. There is not a hotel in New York where hot muffins can be had for less than 10 cents for two, and yet a meal costing less than 8 cents, cooked and served by army cooks, includes as many hot muffins as the hotel wants, that is, provided the man is not a glutton. In other words, there probably is not a hotel or restaurant in New York city where any one of the items on the army menu will not cost more than any one of the army meals, and in at least 30 per cent of the cases more than all three of the army meals put together.

How Army Solves Problem.

An army officer, attached to the subsistence department of the service was asked yesterday, "How do you do it?" His reply was to produce a copy of the Camp Dix News, which tells how the army solves the high cost of living problem.

"When the new army cooks at Camp Dix," the article reads, "finish with a soup bone, there will not be enough of it left to make good bone bouillon. The best cooking and no waste will be the watchword. This is the task the heads of the School for Bakers and Cooks have undertaken to accomplish.

"Captain C. J. Kalberer, Q. M. U. S. R., remains in charge, with Sergeant, Sr. Gr. Q. M. C., supervisor of cooking and baking. Sergeant James S. Boyatt, Sr. Gr. Q. M. C., chief instructor in baking, takes place of Sergeant Horace Hahn, who was recently transferred, while Lieutenant George H. Sunderman is commanding officer of the bakery supplying the camp with bread.

"The government intends to feed the new army in the cantonment here at a cost of $0.37 per day per man. It can, therefore, be readily seen that not only must all scraps be used and nothing wasted or spoiled in cooking and preparation, but somewhere between the quartermaster's stores and the men's mess table there must also be a careful accounting of the quantity and cost of everything used. If any restaurateur or economist thinks it is a simple problem to provide a man with three meals a day of well-balanced and nutritious food, sufficient to put fighting 'pep' into him, and all for the low cost of 40 cents—well, just try it.

"This is a challenge to any civilian hotel steward and chef, any restaurateur, or even the most economical housewife. And it must be remembered that the purchasing agents of the quartermaster's department have to contend with the same high prices that the civilian has. Buying, however, in immense quantities and in bulk, the army gets the benefit of much better prices than the housewife who buys the same food, but in small, dainty, and expensive cartons, tins, and glass containers at the corner grocery. However, many of the big hotels and restaurants have refrigeration and means of preparing food almost equal to those at Camp Dix. Where the large hotelier or eating house loses out on cheap meals, as compared with the army, is in adhering to the custom of pandering to the capricious palates of each individual, thus necessitating the endless variety provided on the bill of fare in our hotels and restaurants, as well as in many homes. In feeding, say 200 men on the same menu there is, of course, an immense saving over the carte à la four. We venture to say that many of the lessons now being taught at the Army School for Bakers and Cooks could be well applied in the home, the hotel and the restaurant in cutting down the high cost of plain living.

"At present, besides the heads above names, the School for Bakers and Cooks includes fifteen officers who act as assistant instructors in charge of regimental schools throughout the camp. At the school there are under training at present 34 cooks, 25 bakers and under the 15 assistant instructors 90 sergeants' first class, one of the assistant instructors being assigned to each regimental school.

Gives Menu Instructions.

"A number of the men being instructed at the school are regular army cooks, who are receiving further pointers on how to provide menus so as to remain within the specified limits of ration cost. About forty of these men were formerly at Panama. About seventy-five are student cooks from the new National Army. Several hours each day are devoted to lectures and to practical demonstrations.

"For instance, the supervisor of baking and cooking will have a quarter of beef brought out on a table, and with several dozen men around him, each provided with a manual, he begins to explain all the points about that quarter of beef a good cook should know. First he calls attention to the points which distinguish whether the quarter came from a cow, a steer, or whether it is 'bully beef,' as shown by the shape of the quarter, shape of the bones, amount of fat and lean at certain points, and color of the meat. The color of the fat tells him whether the animal was corn-fed or pastured is also touched on. Then the supervisor digs his knife in between the vertebrae of the backbone to see whether solid or not, cuts off a thin sliver of cartilage from another bone, and by the hardness, color, and presence or absence of blood spots, and his knowledge of the sex of the animal, advises the men that it was about three and a half years old. The lessons regarding canned meats are just as thorough, and with instruction like this there is very little chance of a repetition of the Span-lish-American war. The men in the kitchens will be able to tell us exactly what they are getting.

"But it is not enough for the cooks to know what they are getting. But, knowing what they have, the supervisor now proceeds to show them how to cut up the quarter in the easiest manner and to the best advantage, designating the different cuts by references to the manual in the hands of the men. As he takes off the different cuts he explains the nutritive value and the best method of roasting, boiling, stewing or frying each part, so as to get all possible nutriment out of the meat. Then he gets down to the hard facts of the bone, how to extract and use the marrow, how to crack and boil the bone, and how long to let it simmer so as to obtain all the gelatine and juice possible.

"Exit beef, exit entire class squad with instructor and mess kit with ration of rice, bacon, coffee and sugar. Sergeant North selects a likely spot, not under enemy observation, digs a hole, builds a tiny fire in said hole, safely hidden from the air scouts, and in this instance, well camouflaged by an interested group of rookies. Presto, nice soft, flaky white rice with a piece of fried bacon, to supply fat and salt, and steaming hot coffee. This latter instruction is intended to prepare the men to be able to have hot meat in the trenches and outposts under the very noses of the enemy, and when thrown entirely on their own resources and packed rations. With some practical advice on how to clean the aluminum utensils of the mess kit, the lesson is ended. After being shown how the men take turns at it themselves, and each man is given a percentage on the results of his second effort with the mess kit.

Lectures on Cooking.

"This, of course, has been followed by just one line of instruction. Lectures and demonstrations are just as thorough on the different ways of cooking and baking beans, the combination of pies and the mysteries of 'We now mix up the dough with the commanding officer of the bakery and the chief instructor in baking and learn that about 18,000 pounds of bread were baked daily this week to supply all the boys in camp. Now that about 16,000 more men are arriving from New York state, Lieutenant Sunderman and his company of bakers will soon be baking about fifteen tons daily.

Cut down your coal bill—and get better heat service with these IDEAL Specialties

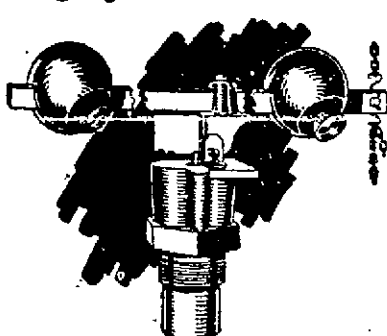

—for OLD or NEW Heating Plants

Norwall Siphon Air Valve

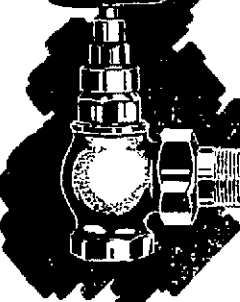

Gives full heating power to the steam radiator and prevents waste of heat. Sensitive and quick action, opens instantly to let out all air from steam radiators—closes tight against escape of steam or water. Stops sputtering and hissing steam—no perishable parts to wear out—never needs adjustment. Guaranteed for five years—try one!

Sylphon Water Regulator

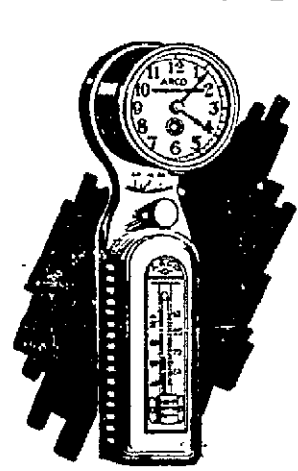

For use on hot water heating outfits for automatic regulation of drafts. Saves heavily in fuel, reduces caretaking labor—prevents boiling—keeps fire burning evenly and requires no attention. Any Hot Water Boiler quickly fitted. Also used on hot water supply boilers, furnishes plenty of warm water at just the temperature desired, for domestic purposes.

Ideal Sylphon Packless Radiator Valve

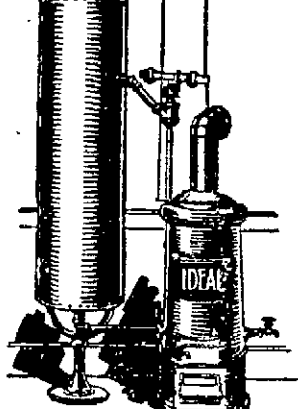

An absolutely steam and water tight valve without packing of any kind, thus absolutely preventing leaks and damage. Every part is metal—nothing to wear or rust out. Most easily turned on or off, never binds or sticks, or needs attention. A wise investment on any job. Same measurement as old style valves so that this packless valve may be easily put on in place of leaky or worn old-fashioned valves.

Arco Temperature Regulator

Keeps the house at right temperature without care or attention—prevents under-heating and over-heating. Turns on dampers in early morning to give comfort at rising time. Provides cooler night temperature—prevents fire from running away, wasting coal and heat, or dying out, leaving unburned fuel. Soon saves first cost in fuel and eliminates all fussing and labor. Holds temperature without attention at any point you desire, day or night. May be attached to any radiator heating outfit or to hot air furnace.

Ideal Boilers for domestic Hot Water Supply

This is a most economical and satisfactory way of providing a bountiful supply of hot water for all domestic purposes. Used in homes, barber shops, stores, factories, garages, restaurants, hotels, clubs, etc. A few shovelfuls of coal will supply warm water for the whole family for a day and when the boiler is equipped with a Sylphon Water Regulator (as shown) the water is always just hot enough—never cold—never scalds. Made in all sizes for any hot water requirement.

Send Me Away With a Smile

Columbia Record A2355, 10-inch, 75c

A soldier's farewell song that has become nationally popular almost overnight. When you hear the record you will say, "So that's the tune I have heard everybody whistling and humming."

Did you know that soldiers and sailors in camp are encouraged to get together and sing at every opportunity? They are, and one of their favorites is "Send Me Away with a Smile."

The companion piece is a song by the Sterling Trio, "My Sweetheart is Somewhere in France."

Sailin' Away on the Henry Clay

Columbia Record A2364, 10-inch, 75c

A happy negro, who has been working in the North and saving his tips, is about to start for Tennessee for the Winter. The joy in his anticipation of the coming journey fairly bubbles and leaps through the melody. The record is splendidly sung.

Your Country Needs You Now

Columbia Record A2361, 10-inch, 75c

Those who like good quartette records as well as patriotic songs will take a double pleasure in this stirring melody. It is coupled with another good quartette song, Von Tilzer's "It's a Long, Long Way to the U. S. A."

Columbia List of Song Records for November

It contains twenty-two popular song-hits—so good that it seems a pity not to be able to mention them all. Then there is a perfect gem of a record with two famous Neapolitan folk songs on it; Barrios sings "Voices of Spring" (Strauss); Straccari contributes a wonderful soldier's farewell song from "Faust." Ten new dance records are included, with instrumental selections, a humorous Hebrew monologue by Julian Rose, and a reading of Red Riding Hood for the children. Any Columbia dealer will gladly play these records for you.

ABLE CANDIDATE IN WAWARSING

Chester Young, Member of Republican Family of Long, Standing, Candidate For Supervisor in Town Where He Has Spent Lifetime.

Chester Young, the Republican nominee for supervisor of the town of Wawarsing, is a son of the late ex-Sheriff George Young and for many years no family has labored more earnestly for the welfare of Wawarsing and the success of the Republican nominees than the Young family.

CHESTER YOUNG.

Mr. Young was born at Napanoch, where he resides. He is forty years old, and received his early education in the district school. For ten years, during part of which period his father was sheriff, he resided in Kingston, and during that time he attended Kingston Academy. Later he attended the Worcester, Mass., Academy, and Cornell University, which always has been a favorite institution with young men of the town of Wawarsing, from which he was graduated in 1898 with the degree of bachelor of science.

From 1890 to 1904 he made his home in Ellenville. Having made a particular study of agriculture, in which he became interested at an early age, he spent five years with the State Department of Agriculture and for one year he was connected with the State Prison Department. Parts of eight winters were spent by him in the south, where he represented a syndicate engaged in buying and selling timber and whose members found that he had a thorough knowledge of that subject.

For a number of years Mr. Young has resided on his farm at Napanoch, where he has conducted farming as a successful scale. He has been actively identified with the Lister County Farm Bureau since its organization being the second president of the bureau, whose first president was Judge Clearwater of this city. Mr. Young served as president for two years.

Besides being engaged in farming, Mr. Young is interested, with Clinton B. Humphrey of Napanoch, in the paper mill of Humphrey & Young, Inc., of Napanoch, and the John H. Russell Knife Works at Napanoch, manufacturers of edged tools.

Mr. Young never before has been a candidate for public office. During his entire life, however, he always has been active in the Republican party, and always has worked indefatigably for the success of the entire Republican ticket, town, county, state and national. His personal, business, political and all other qualifications are of the highest order, and in electing him as supervisor the town of Wawarsing will continue the high standard which for many years it has maintained.

A CAN A DAY.

In this space each day will appear, in such form that the housewife may clip them out and paste them on a card for filing in index form, or in a book, recipes for canning or preserving suitable to the season. These recipes have been tested and guaranteed by the Home Economics Department of the New York State College of Agriculture and are sent out at the request of the New York State Food Supply Commission.

Use of Fall Apples.

There is some truth in the old adage "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." How much we shall not discuss at present.

The apple is one of our chief fruits and should be used generously in the diet in both the raw, if ripe, and the cooked state. This season when the apple crop is only 24% of the normal crop and the best apple counties having only an average of 15% crops we must use every means at hand to save all of the sound portions of the apple which it is possible to keep by some means or other for use this coming winter and in the spring.

The following are some of the ways in which apples may be saved for winter use. For further recipes confer with Miss Lillian M. Stuart, food conservation agent, at the Farm Bureau office, Kingston, N. Y.

Canned Apples.

Recipe I—Make a thin sirup. Pare and quarter the apples. Drop them into the sirup, and cook them until they are transparent. Pack the apples in sterilized jars, fill the jars with boiling sirup and seal them in the usual manner.

Recipe II—Pare and core apples of medium size and pack them in sterilized jars. Set the jars in a steamer, and cook the apples until they are tender. Place the cores and parings in cold water and cook them until they are tender. Drain off the juice, measure it, and add one-half as much sugar. Boil the solution until it threads. Fill the jars and seal them at once.

Canned Baked Apples.

Wash and core good, sound, tart baking apples. Fill the cavities with sugar. Bake the apples until tender in a pan containing a little water. Pack the baked apples into hot sterilized jars. Fill the jars completely with a sirup made by boiling together for two minutes 1 part of water and 1 part of sugar. Seal the jars.

Canned Apple Sauce.

If apples are not good enough to can whole or in quarters, make apple sauce and can it. Either pare and cut the apples and cook them in a small amount of water until they are tender; or cut out any bad spots, cut the apples in pieces, cook them in a small amount of water until they are tender, and rub them through a sieve. Add as much sugar as the acidity of the apple requires and cook the sauce just until the sugar is dissolved. Pour it into sterilized jars, and seal them.

Dried Apples.

Pare core, and cut the apples in eighths, or better, core them and slice them in rings 1/4 inch thick, using a fruit or vegetable slicer. Since apples discolor quickly, do not let them stand long before drying them. To prevent discoloration, as the fruit is prepared it may be dipped for one minute in a cold salt bath, made in proportion of 1 ounce (2 1/2 tablespoons) of salt to 1 gallon of water. Remove the surface moisture, and dry them at about 150°F. Dry them for from 4 to 6 hours, or until no moisture can be squeezed out from the surface when a piece is broken.

Dried Apple Sauce.

Cut the apples in eighths or pass them through the food chopper. Add a small amount of water and cook them until they are tender. Put them through a strainer to remove the seeds and skins. Add from 1/4 to 1/2 cupful of sugar to 4 cupfuls of the pulp. Cook the sauce down over hot water until it is thick. Then spread it in sheets on platters or trays over the stove. Store it in moisture-proof containers. This paste may be eaten like a confection, or it may be served as a sauce by soaking and heating it until it is of the desired consistency.

Peach and Apple Conserve.

Use equal parts of peaches and apples, diced. Add three-fourths as much sugar as fruit. Cook the mixture slowly until it is thick and clear. Seal it in sterilized jars. If the apples are a good color, do not peel them. Equal parts of rhubarb, peaches, and apples may be used.

Rhubarb and Apple Conserve.

Two cupfuls sugar, 2-3 cupful water, 2 cupfuls rhubarb, cut in small pieces, 1 cupful sliced apple 2-3 cupful English walnuts chopped. Cook the sugar and the water until the sirup forms a thread when dropped from a spoon. Add the fruit and simmer it until it is clear. Add the nuts, and turn the mixture into jelly glasses, cool and seal with paraffin.

Rhubarb and Apple Butter.

Two cupfuls stewed rhubarb put through a strainer, 3 cupfuls sugar, 1 orange, juice and grated rind, 2 cupfuls stewed apples, put through a strainer.

Combine the ingredients, and cook the mixture until it is thick and clear. Pour it into glasses or jars and seal them.

Apple Ginger Marmalade.

Five pounds apples, 3 1/2 pounds sugar, 1 pint water, 1 ounce green ginger root, grated rind of 2 lemons and 1 orange.

Wash and peel tart apples. Cut them into small sections and boil the other ingredients until the mixture is thick and jelly-like. Pour into sterilized jars or glasses and seal them.

Apple Jelly.

Wash the apples, remove the blossom ends, and cut them in quarters or eighths. Add sufficient cold water to allow them to float. Cover them and simmer them until they are cooked to a pulp. Turn the pulp into a jelly-bag and strain off the juice. A second and a third extraction may be made from the pulp by covering it with water and simmering it for 15 or 20 minutes. So long as the alcohol test indicates the presence of pectin in the juice, jelly can be made. It is well to combine the second and later extractions in order to obtain a more uniform juice. Boil the juice for 5 minutes, add warm sugar, in the proportion of three-fourths the weight of juice and continue the boiling until the jelly test is observed, or the juice sheets off when allowed to run from the side of the spoon. Pour it into hot glasses, and when the jelly has stiffened, seal it with hot paraffin.

Peach and Apple Jelly.

Wash the peaches thoroughly, remove the stones and cut the peaches in pieces. Add a very little water and cook them until they are very soft. Strain the juice through a jelly-bag. To the peach juice add one-fourth as much tart apple juice. Boil the mixture for five minutes, add two-thirds as much sugar, and continue the boiling until the jelly test is observed. Turn the jelly into scalded glasses, and when cool seal them with paraffin. The apple juice contributes the necessary acid and pectin to the combination, and gives a better texture to the jelly without perceptibly altering the flavor. The pulp left in the bag after straining off the juice can be used for marmalade.

Mint Jelly.

The best mint jelly is made with the juice of slightly unripe apples as a basis. Wash fresh mint leaves thoroughly. To 1 cupful of mint leaves (packed solid) add 1 cupful of boiling water; set the mixture on the back of the stove, and steep it for one hour. Lay a piece of cheesecloth over a bowl pour the steeped mint leaves into it, twist the ends of the cheesecloth and press out all the moisture.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT TO REMOVE TO MOSCOW.

The seat of Russian government will soon remove from Petrograd to Moscow. The government will occupy one of the buildings in the Kremlin, the ancient capital. The government takes the position that it is merely following the precedent set by the French government when it moved to Bordeaux in the first year of the war. The preliminary parliament will convene in Petrograd and then move to Moscow, where quarters will be found for the diplomatic corps. The determination to move the government is said to be in keeping with the belief of the Chief of Staff that Petrograd is now in the direct war zone. It may seem a bit early for these orders but practically all of the work must be done after the order is received and every indication points to a big season for engraved cards and stationery of all kinds. When the utmost capacity is reached there must be a stoppage of order-taking so that all work may be completed before Christmas. Trained, skillful help is required and in the rush weeks the expansion is merely one of increased labor on the part of the regular workers; and too, the engraving business has supplied its quota of men to the army and navy and to the Government Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the Liberty Bonds, Currency, Postage Stamps and other papers of value are executed by the steel engraving process. There is also an advantage in getting more satisfactory workmanship and better transportation facilities early in the season.

This week we are having special display of advance samples of Christmas and New Year's Cards and fancy gift stationery, and it will be worth your while to stop and look at our elaborate window display and then come in and place your order. We shall be most happy to set aside whatever you may select from our stock before it is depleted and delivered the same at a later date. DO IT NOW.

SHAWANGUNK'S SON IS NOTED DIPLOMAT

Brief Sketch of Republican Nominee For Supervisor Whose Record of Accomplishment For Uncle Sam Indicates What He Can Do Elsewhere.

Few men in Ulster county have performed for their country the distinguished service which has been rendered to Uncle Sam by Montgomery Schuyler, whose home for years has been at Ulsterville, in the town of Shawangunk, and who has been nominated by the Republicans of that town for supervisor. Some of the towns of nearby counties in recent years have selected for supervisor the distinguished men who have performed substantial service for and have been honored by the state and national governments, and in the nomination of Mr. Schuyler the Republicans have followed this wise precedent and have made a wise selection.

Mr. Schuyler has spent most of his time in the diplomatic service of the United States. He is a son of Montgomery Schuyler, who was a noted writer, and of Katherine Beckman Livingston Schuyler, his wife, and he was born at Stamford, Conn., on September 2, 1877. After receiving his early education in the grade and high schools, he entered Columbia University, New York city, from which he was graduated in 1899 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and in the following year the University conferred on him the degree of master of arts. In 1899 and 1900 he was university scholar in Indo-Iranian languages at Columbia, and was university fellow in 1900-1902.

His work in the university, his studies there and his work as a Republican led in 1902, under President Roosevelt, to his selection as second secretary of the American embassy at St. Petersburg (now Petrograd), Russian, where he remained until 1904, when he was made secretary of the American legation and later consul-general of the U. S. at Bangkok, Siam. He was made charge d'affaires of that diplomatic post in 1905.

From September, 1906, to May, 1907, Mr. Schuyler was charge d'affaires of the United States to Roumania and Serbia. In 1907 he returned to St. Petersburg (now Petrograd) where he became first secretary and charge d'affaires of the American embassy, holding that position until 1910, when he was transferred to Tokyo, Japan, where he held the same position under the American government until 1911, and then for the next two years held the same position at Mexico City, Mexico. In March, 1912, he was appointed extraordinary envoy and minister plenipotentiary to Ecuador, and during 1914-1915 he served as special agent of the United States to Russia.

During the six years in addition to his other activities, Mr. Schuyler wrote a number of books besides numerous magazine articles on various subjects.

Since his retirement from the diplomatic service he has occupied his farm at Ulsterville, town of Shawangunk, where for many years he had made his home, and since that time he has been actively interested in town affairs. His Republicanism always has been well known and his activity in advancing the welfare of the town of Shawangunk has had for its foundation a determination to look after the interests of the taxpayer and to give them dollar for dollar for all moneys expended. His experience and training will be of great value to the town of Shawangunk and the county of Ulster, which may well point with pride to what he has accomplished for the United States. Both town and county are fortunate in having him for a resident; they will indeed be fortunate in having him for a supervisor.

Fighting, Farming and Financing. The soldiers in the trenches can't be slow:

They dig. The farmers in the fields with plow and hoe—

They dig. For bonds, into our pockets we should go.—

Let's Dig!

Buying cheaply is not all there is to economy. Make the fullest use of what is bought.

Plenty of legume hay and silage mean that less grain may be fed without reducing milk production.

A quart of whole milk each day for each child is none too much. Milk is a food, not a beverage.

Farm folks like canned fruits and vegetables during winter and are better off for having them. Silage provides the same sort of thing for the cow.

Have you planned your spring flowering bulbs around the doorway? It is not too late yet, says the college of agriculture at Cornell, but the time is getting short.

Food Plotee Week has been set forward seven days so it would not conflict with national singleness of purpose on the Liberty Loan. It begins with October 28. After you have subscribed your money, you can pledge your support on food conservation.

Hands and Fingers. Nearly everything of money value in this world gets its worth from the human touch, according to Industrial Management magazine. The Mides hand of humanity turns whatever it fingers into its representative weight in gold. Diamonds gain their high value not only from rarity but because of the earth's soil have to be handled to find one little stone. Gold itself gets its worth not merely from scarcity but from the immense work in accumulating one ounce.

MARTIN LUTHER AND THE OPEN BIBLE

(Contributed.)

Prof. Boehmer of Marburg, in his recent book on Luther, says that more than 200 biographies of Luther have been written in more than a dozen languages, and when dipping into a few dozen of them, strange sensations take hold of the reader, because of the widely divergent views about the essence and worth of Luther's person and work. But this one thing no one will deny. That Luther gave to the world the open Bible. Doelling, the noted Roman Catholic scholar says: "The Luther Bible has given to his people more than any man in Christian ages has ever given to a people in any language, manual for popular instruction, Bible, hymns of worship, etc. But not only to his people. The origin of the English Bible is to be traced to German sources and Lutheran influences. In 1525 appeared Tyndale's translation of the New Testament, evidently inspired by Luther's translation of 1522. A noted Anglican scholar admits that Tyndale had Luther's translation before him and constantly consulted it, and often adopted it." Unable to have it printed in England (the printing was begun in Cologne in 1525 and completed at Worms. And likewise there was printed in the same city the second edition before the end of that year. (Schaff-Herzog, Encyclopedia, vol. 4, p. 2411.) Tyndale acquired his knowledge of Hebrew in Germany. His translations of the Book of Jonah, consecrated one-tenth of the translation given in the authorized version. So marked was the similarity and so unmistakable the source of his New Testament translation that when it appeared it was known as "The Luther Bible." One of the greatest blessings of the age was the placing of the English Bible into the hands of the common people. What is true of Tyndale's New Testament is equally true of the authorized version of the whole English Bible, by Coverdale in 1535. The first Protestant French Bible was printed by Etienne in Antwerp, but that of Olivetan, printed for the Waldenses in 1530, corrected by his cousin, Calvin, was the nearest approach to a national version. Olivetan was expelled from Geneva for spreading the ideas of the Reformation in 1535.

The first complete Dutch Bible was issued in 1526. Two editions appeared. The first one was based on Luther's translation, as far as it had then appeared, and on a Cologne Bible of the previous century. The second, upon the complete Luther's Bible, compared with Olivetan's French Bible. It would be more of them. Suffice it to say that the open Bible is a fruit of the Reformation. The highest and most precious treasure that the world has today is God's Holy Word in its fulness and purity. Today the Bible is the book that has a wider and readier sale than any other book in the world. The Bible is published in almost every known language, and the new versions are made almost every year. Copies of the Bible are falling from the printing presses as the autumn leaves fall from the trees, leaves for the healing of the nations. (Rev. 22:2) It is offered as a gift to those too poor to buy, or too indifferent to buy, and is sold to anyone who wishes to purchase it at a price the buyer wishes to pay. It is found in the hut of the poor, and in the proudest palaces of kings and emperors. Neither did the Bible come to any one nation or person empty-handed. It came laden with the gifts of heaven, the richest blessings of God, it comes bringing on its holy pages the very power and Spirit of God. It brings us the unrepentable sins of knowledge, faith, which purifies our hearts and lives. It brings us liberty from Satan, sin, and death; from human tyranny, both civil and ecclesiastical. The greatest thing that Luther did was to give the Bible to the world! A Roman Catholic, the eminent French historian, M. Michelet, says in his preface to the "Life of Luther," written by him and translated into English by William Hazlitt, on this very point: "To him (Luther) it is in a great measure owing that we of the present day exercise in its plenitude that first great right of the human understanding, to which all the rest are naught. We cannot think, speak, write for a single moment without gratefully recalling to mind this enormous benefit of intellectual enfranchisement. The very lines I here trace to whom do I owe it that I am able to stand them forth, in not to the liberator of modern thought? This tribute paid to Luther, we the less hesitate to admit, that our own sympathies are not with him in the religious revolution he inaugurated." Had Luther done nothing else, that alone, the translation of the Bible were enough to insure him lasting fame and gratefulness from all the world. This certainly is sufficient cause for the joyful remembrance of the day that marks the beginning of his work, October 31, 1517. The four hundredth anniversary of God's people everywhere preparing to celebrate, and above all, the members of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. This, then, is only a faint outline showing to what extent the world is indebted to Luther and the Lutheran Church. May this anniversary be so blessed that the members of this church may the more fully understand and appreciate the high honor and privilege of being faithful members of that church, which by its past history and present protest against error is, above all others, entitled to the name Protestant. At it is true, as has been said, that the hope of the world lies in Protestantism, for it is the source and strength of Protestantism. Ours is indeed the mother church of Protestantism, in a real and living sense, for which we ought to thank God, and which should inspire us to a corresponding zeal in the evangelization of the world.

SAGENDORF HAS MADE GOOD RECORD

Lester L. Sagendorf, whose nomination by the Republicans of the town of Woodstock for supervisor of that town was a tribute of appreciation for what he has accomplished during the past two years for his town, has been actively identified with all public matters there for a number of years.

LESTER L. SAGENDORF.

Mr. Sagendorf was born in the town of Shaadaken in 1862 and is a son of W. A. Sagendorf and Clarissa Fitting. He resided with his father until 1884 with the exception of one year during which he was clerk in the general store of the late L. A. Cluichester. His father having purchased a farm in the town of Woodstock in 1881, Mr. Sagendorf removed there with him and worked with him until 1888, when he married Carrie Carnright. Without a dollar, he began life for himself and removing to Newburgh entered the employ of Biggs & Moore, one of the largest paint and oil firms along the Hudson river.

In the spring of 1892, Mr. Sagendorf returned to Woodstock, rented a small farm and at once engaged in farming. In 1897 he purchased the William Winne farm, which he at once rebuilt and remodelled into one of the best places in the town.

Mr. Sagendorf is engaged, with his brother-in-law, John A. Carnright, in a general farming and teaming business, and also in buying cattle, hogs and other live stock.

During the past two years Mr. Sagendorf has demonstrated his capacity for legislative work and has accomplished much. Among the more notable of his accomplishments is the change in plans for the Stony Hollow viaduct whereby the grade will be made easier and danger in making turns will be eliminated.

GROWTH OF MUSICAL EDUCATION HERE

The movement now on foot to establish the Kingston Symphony Orchestra on a sound and permanent basis, as undertaken by the business men of the community, bespeaks a gratifying growth in musical education in various directions throughout the entire community. After four years of struggle and exceedingly hard pioneer work, it is now recognized that this orchestra is a very real and broad educational factor in musical appreciation in the lives of our young people as it is equally educating to our older people who formerly had an idea that "classical" music was neither musical nor to be understood except by the trained musician. But that is not all.

The business men of Kingston are awakening to the fact, as are the business men of other communities, that such a musical organization is a very real asset to any city, and that it is being so recognized by men of affairs who are themselves musicians. When the effort was made to give the second Musical Festival under the direction of the Symphony Orchestra, Arthur Herschmann, now one of the most noted and delightful orators and concert baritone soloists in the country, was, through Kingston friends, so interested in the project that he came to Kingston to do what he could to assist in the matter. It was his suggestion, then, that such an organization as the present reorganized Symphony Society, and the orchestra—be formed, but evidently the time was not then ripe. Now the value of Mr. Herschmann's advice is realized, and he was able to give that advice because in addition to being the noted singer that he is, he has also been closely and in a large way connected with his enterprises of a business character. While realizing that Mr. Herschmann has rare ability in the promoting of musical enterprises as well as a marvelous voice, few even of his friends in this city know that Mr. Herschmann was until he recently devoted his entire time to his splendid musical career, an engineer of note. He still holds his membership in the most exclusive London engineering fraternity of the day. Connected with an engineering concern that built many of the leading buildings in New York, and having supervised the reconstruction of the Flatiron Building as well as the construction of another notable building near Aeolian Hall, New York, and possessing a gold medal from the Automobile Club of America for one of his automobile inventions, Mr. Herschmann still has had the vision to see the part that music, the best music, whether termed "popular" or "classical," is bound to play in the lives of Americans in the future. He has always prophesied that this Kingston Symphony Orchestra would some day come into its own, be recognized and supported, and in many ways this now famous singer, whose records are sought out, has helped with advice and encouragement the struggling organization. It is well, too, that our men of affairs are realizing, as have their brethren in England and France, that while every effort must be conserved for the carrying on to a successful culmination this world war, music can and does afford a refreshing and a stimulating aid in the courageous and cheerful bearing of the burdens of the day.

We used to say:

"The Maxwell's real greatness is on the inside—the mechanical parts you can't see."

But the wonderful new 1918 Maxwell has just been delivered to us.

Now we've changed our tune.

Today we say:

"The Maxwell is great inside and out—great in EVERY POSSIBLE way."

Always the most efficient—most economical light car built, the Maxwell now has:

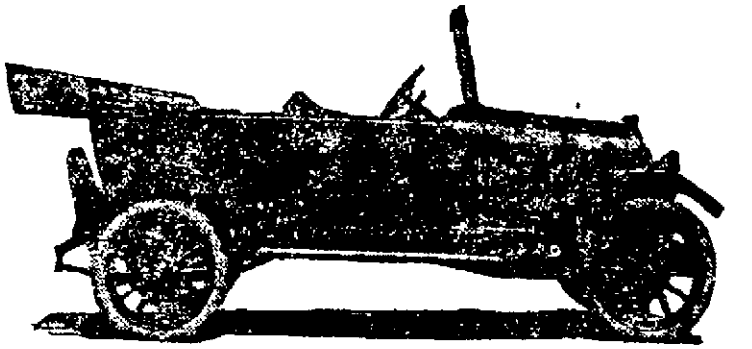

A 6-inch longer wheel base, making it larger and roomier.

Heavier and more rigid frames—6 inches, instead of 3 inches deep—and yet is 50 pounds lighter.

Compensating underslung rear springs—the last word in spring suspension at any price.

A sloped windshield—style of body equal to the highest priced cars.

Friends, the 1918 Maxwell is the best looking, best built car for the money we ever saw!

Enjoyed the Frosting.

Dick was a guest at Dumm's third birthday party. At first he was quiet and morose. Then, at the sight of ice cream and cake, he suddenly became cheerful. Rinsing his face in a huge glass of pure-banana cake so that only his eyes could be distinguished, he shouted: "Say, kids, this is the frosting I like to eat!"

An Ancient Lift.

The earliest mention of a device in any way resembling the modern elevator or lift may be read in Vitruvius, who describes a hoisting machine which was invented by Archimedes. This elevator of the second century B. C. was worked by ropes which were coiled upon a winding drum by a capstan and levers. The same writer refers to another similar machine which was made to rotate by a man who walked inside the capstan. Such a primitive elevator is still in use to lift passengers and luggage from the first to the second story of a convent on Mount Sinai.

What's the Use?

It's mighty hard to live with folks who don't enjoy doing, and there's no way to give people the kind of truth they aren't used to.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart Sports Dress.

Waist-2090 Skirt-2079.
Combining Ladies' Waist Pattern 2090 and Ladies' Skirt 2079, in figured shantung, or any of the new striped "sports" fabrics, this will make a splendid outfit dress. The waist may have sleeves in waist of elbow length, and you will surely want the pockets on the skirt. The waist pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. It requires 3 yards of 36 inch material for a 38-inch size. The skirt is cut in 7 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure, and requires 3 1/4 yards of 44-inch material for a 24-inch size. It requires 2 1/2 yards at the foot. This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps or The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Taking Care of Pennies.

Ben Franklin had a wise old head when he advised his readers to take care of the pennies because the dollars would take care of themselves. The boy in whose pockets the pennies burn holes will understand the difficulty of taking care of the pennies, and, like as not, declare that it cannot be done.

Thomas Paine Rewarded.

Thomas Paine never received a pension nor a reward of any kind from the national government for patriotic service but the legislature of Pennsylvania voted him $2,500 on account of his pamphlet entitled "Common Sense," which undoubtedly gave an impulse to the movement for independence.

Esparto Shoes Wear Long.

"It is not uncommon in some parts of Spain or Portugal to hear the natives boast of wearing a pair of Esparto shoes for 25 years or more," says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. "The soles will survive an aggregate exceeding 6,000 miles of walking without wearing away appreciably."

That Extra Penny.

"Six cents, please, now, instead of five. I always figured about that extra penny," is what is heard many times a day in local tobacco stores.
Cigarettes that sold for five cents a package are six cents now, and have been for some little time, on account of the tax on them. It's hard to get used to that extra penny as they have been five cents for so long a time.
Some cigars and brands of tobacco have also gone up, and some of the hubbys are asking their better halves for a little more tobacco money to meet the increased cost of smokes.

Court Instructs Jury in Leishing-Van Buren Company Case to Return Verdict for Leishing for $1,333.95—Another Fire Insurance Case is Being Tried.

Case 123 was resumed Tuesday afternoon in the supreme court here.

This is an action brought by Charles Leishing of Port Ewen, against C. H. Van Buren and Company, brokers, of New York city, to recover for the sale of some certificates of United States common stock.

Plaintiff alleges that John D.
Kline, who was the Kingston representative of Van Buren and Company, sold these certificates without the consent or the knowledge of the plaintiff.

Alleged letters from Van Buren and Company to Kline, were offered in evidence by plaintiff's attorneys, in an attempt to prove that Kline was merely acting as agent for the company.

Letters in Evidence.

Defendant's lawyers introduced in evidence some alleged letters from Kline to Van Buren and Company.
These letters were introduced in an effort to prove that Kline was responsible, and not Van Buren and Company, for Kline's stock transactions with its customers.

Statements of plaintiff's account with Kline, from November 1, 1916, to June 1, 1917, were introduced in evidence by the plaintiff's attorneys.

No Witnesses Called.

Attorneys for defense called no witnesses, contenting themselves with the cross-examination of the plaintiff's witnesses.

Judge Clearwater Sums Up.

Judge Clearwater summed up for the defendant.

The judge stated that "Mr. Van Buren had in his possession about $11,000 that belonged to Mr. Kline's customers, and that he was willing to have this money divided up among the customers of Kline, who lost this money in transactions of Kline."

Van Buren had no names of Kline's customers and did not know among what persons this money should be divided. No doubt the sum lost by Kline's customers was far greater than this amount of $11,000.

The judge claimed that this action is being brought by Leishing so that he can get his money in full, ahead of the rest of the creditors of Kline, and that Van Buren was fighting this action to protect the rest of Kline's creditors.

Judge Clearwater denied that Kline was an agent of Van Buren and Company.

"Every bank is a correspondent of the United States treasury," said the judge, "but this fact does not make these banks agents for the U. S.
treasury."

For the Plaintiff.

Judge Jenkins, in his summing up, reviewed the facts in the case, and said that the evidence clearly proved that Van Buren & Company were responsible for Kline's transaction, and that the company was guilty of conversion of the certificates in question.

Court Directs Verdict.

Judge Hasbrouck directed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $1,333.95, the full amount asked by the plaintiff, this amount being the sale price received by Van Buren & Company for the sale of the certificates in question, and $29.77 interest.

Another Insurance Case.

Case No. 76 was then put on.
This is an action brought by Mrs.
Hattie S. Williams of Newark, N. J., against the Pioneer Co-operative Fire Insurance Company.

Mrs. Williams owned some farm property near Summitville and took out fire insurance to the amount of $1,175 with the Pioneer Co-operative
Fire Insurance Company.

This amount represented insurance as follows: $750 on the house, $300 on the barn and $125 on a frame building used as a cook house.
In December, 1916, all three of these buildings mentioned were destroyed by fire. Mrs. Williams at the time of the fire living in Newark.

Claim Not Paid.

Plaintiff alleges that the insurance claims have not been paid, and that the fire proofs that the plaintiff sent to the insurance company were returned to the plaintiff, with the statement that the company did not recognize any liability in this case.

The Defendant's Claim.

Defendant claims that plaintiff misrepresented the value of the property in question and that the house had not been occupied ten days previous to the date of the fire.

There is a provision in the policy that if the property insured is not occupied for a period of ten days before the fire, that the policy is void.

The Plaintiff Called.

Mrs. Williams, the plaintiff, was the first witness called by the plain-tiff's attorneys.

Mrs. Williams told of how she had bought the property in question, and of the improvements that she had her brother make to the property.

Mrs. Deyo Also Plaintiff.

Mrs. Ella Deyo is also one of the plaintiffs in this action, as Mrs. Deyo had a mortgage on the property that was burned.

The property in question consists of a hundred acres, about fifty acres of this being woodland. The buildings were, as has been stated, dwelling, barn and cook house.

Describes the Property.

Benjamin A. Boyce, of Summit-ville, a real estate man, described the property in question.

Mr. Boyce had visited this property before the fire.

Mr. Boyce stated that in his opinion it would take $2,500 to erect a dwelling similar to the dwelling burned down, and that it would take $2,500 to replace a barn similar to the barn, and $250 to replace a cook house similar to the one destroyed by fire.

Boyce seemed to enjoy being on the witness stand as he always had a perpetual smile.

Attorneys in Action.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Amos Van Eiten and Cleon B. Murray.

William Rooney, Wendell B.
Brown and Senator Walton represent
the defendant.

At 5 o'clock court adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

MR. BENNETT NOW IN HIS NEW STORE

T. A. Bennett, who formerly conducted a grocery store at 47 North Front street, is now occupying his new store at 60 North Front street, corner of Crown street, and has a large stock of groceries and meats.
Charles Glazer is in charge of the meat department, and Mr. and Mrs.
Bennett and sons are in the grocery department.

Extensive improvements have been made to the property and Mr. Bennett has an up to date store with a large floor space.

This building was at one time known as the "Old Red Store," and here the first cash grocery business ever carried on in Kingston, was conducted by Walter Simpson.

A Versatile Judge.

Horace Smith, the octogenarian magistrate in London, who has just retired from the bench, was known to have composed a hymn while at the same time he was listening to a government attorney expound the evidence against a prisoner who, in the nature of the case, would have to be remanded to a higher court. At the close of the case, the attorney, who met the magistrate in the hall of the court, asked him why he had been at the palus to take notes and received as a reply the hymn which he had composed at the time. The magistrate was an orator of some distinction.

Cornmeal Fish Balls.

Two cupfuls cold white cornmeal mush, one cupful shredded codfish, one egg, one tablespoonful butter; pick over the codfish and soak it to remove salt, if necessary; combine the ingredients and drop by spoonfuls into hot fat; drain on porous paper. These codfish balls compare very favorably in taste with those made with potato and are more easily and quickly prepared.

Spoons Vs. Chopsticks.

While China and Japan take rice with chopsticks, Korea eats hers with a spoon. Prediction is that the next step will usher in the broad fork. One reason for this peculiarity is that in the Analects of Confucius a record exists that the master ate his millet, not with chopsticks, but with a spoon.
Every saying that pertains to Confucius is reverently regarded in Korea.
